The West End injunction suit which was scheduled for hearing before Judge Sam Hurst at Pineville this morning was postponed on account of the Adams murder case. It will probably be heard tomorrow afternoon.

Selection of a trial jury for the Adams case was completed early this afternoon in the Pineville circuit court. The entire morning was spent in the work. Eighty-seven persons had been summoned for jury service, seventy-eight of whom appeared.

NO VICE-PRESIDENT DURING PRESENT ADMINISTRATION

The question of who will be vice-president now has been raised a number of times since President Harding's death and Mr. Coolidge's ascendancy to the position of president.

There will be no vice president of the United States during the present administration. Should President Coolidge the Secretary of State Hughes would become the President, and all the other Cabinet members would move up a notch, so to speak.

Senator Cummings of Iowa president protem, of the Senate, will preside over the deliberations of that body, and act in the capacity of vice-president.

As it now stands, the President is from Massachusetts, Frederick H. Gillet, of Massachusetts, is speaker of the House, Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, is the floor leader of the Senate, which virtually gives the state old New England state control of the nation at the present time.

MOSS SPEAKER IN DAWSON CAMPAIGN

Chester Searcy, Colvin Supper State Leader in November Fight for Governor

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 9.—A meeting of a sub-committee of the Republican State Central Committee at the state headquarters in the Republic building today selected the following organization heads for the coming state election:

Campaign chairman, Chester H. Searcy, Louisville.

Speakers' bureau chairman, White L. Moss, Pineville.

Chairman finance committee, D. O. Burk, Bradfordville.

Publicity chairman, Paul Baling, Louisville.

Chairman negro organization, Walter Robinson, Hopkinsville.

Chairman legal aid committee, William Wallace, Richmond.

The personnel of the women's organization will be announced on the return of Mrs. A. T. Bert, which is expected to be some time next week. Mrs. Bert is chairman of the women in the state.

The fact that Searcy, Colvin's manager, is to boss the campaign for Charles I. Dawson and that George Colvin is to go stump for his former opponent, indicates that the Republicans have patched up their old differences against the common enemy.

$250,000 BONDS FOR COUNTY ROADS SOLD

Hope That Contract For Page-Harlan Link May Be Let Soon

Sale of $250,000 worth of Bell county 5 per cent road bonds, was announced by G. C. May, county treasurer, Wednesday afternoon, following a meeting of county officials and representatives of bond buying houses.

The successful bidders for the bonds were Wood, Roth and Irving company of Cincinnati, and Caldwell and Company of Nashville, both of whom signed a joint contract with county officials for the bonds, which were sold for par and accrued interest, the bonds to be dated August 1, 1923.

Announcement of the sale of the bonds means an early contract for the completion of the Bell county road from Page to the Harlan county line, 12 miles in length and promises come true. According to recent order of the fiscal court $177,000 of the amount realized from the sale will be applied to the Harlan road, which will be built with state and federal and the Harlan road being included in a list issued from the federal and road department at Washington, last week as eligible for federal aid. Hugh Ash, member of the state highway department, stated immediately after sale of the bonds was announced, that he hopes he may be able to get the department to let the contract for the grading without further delay.

WOMAN SOLICITING HELP IS HAMPERED BY SMALL SIZE OF AUTOMOBILE

A local woman of many estimable virtues tells of the following experience last week. A pretty but nearly dressed woman came to her back door one morning, telling her that her family had been burned completely out in a recent fire and asking if she had anything to give them. "My husband has work and we are not in luck," the solicitor explained, "but we are almost destitute for clothing and furniture." The local woman, with sympathy aroused, and she might have some girl's clothing but the other woman answered that unfortunately all her children were boys.

Then the Middlesboro woman looking around upon an old car in the corner of the porch and said she believed she could spare that. "I would like to have it," the other woman replied, "but I don't believe it would go in my car."

ACCIDENT VICTIM
PUZZLING CASE

Oscar Partin Found in Dazed Condition at Noon—Claims He Had Been Robbed

Mystery surrounds the case of Oscar Partin who was found in a bleeding and bruised condition in a wrecked automobile near the foot of the mountain at noon today. At police headquarters this afternoon he appeared to be still in a dazed condition, making many conflicting statements as to the accident.

Partin who says that his home is at Noctown, though he has been working at Hamilton, O., for some time. He claims that he had about $125 before the accident and that about $85 of it had been taken from him.

He says that he passed through Middlesboro this morning and that a man whose name he does not know rode with him to the top of the mountain. Arriving there, the strange passenger got out of the car. Partin came back in this direction and was crowded out of the road by two other cars, he states. Witnesses say that he appeared to be in a dazed condition before the wreck.

Dr. J. T. Evans sent his ambulance to the scene and placed the injured and semiconscious man in it. When the vehicle had come as far as Tenth street, Partin, against the wishes of the physician, got out and went back to the wrecked car.

Dr. Evans notified the police of the occurrence and the officers went to the scene and found Partin walking along the road nearby. The car which was practically demolished had been moved from the place, though the owner says he had given no orders to that effect.

The case is one of the most baffling but has come to the attention of the police in a long time. The man had not been drinking and had no liquor in the car, yet he seemed trying to conceal something. The police do not believe there was any robbery.

GEORGETOWN COLLEGE
PLANS FOOTBALL SEASON

By Associated Press.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 9.—The ruling of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association at its last meeting permitting members to play football year men with the consent of the opposing team will give Georgetown College a powerful gridiron team this year, according to J. W. Coleman, director of the department of physical education. Georgetown has been contemplating following this ruling and it is likely that in some games freshmen will be in the lineup.

Reports from old students indicate that there will be considerable improvement in the team this year as may new players have planned to attend Georgetown. The squad of last year will be intact with the exception of Center Clear and Guard Flowers. Coleman, who is a graduate of the University of Arkansas, will be in charge of the gridiron team this season.

Georgetown has one of the hardest schedules in recent years. The ten games set for the fall sport follow:

September 29—Miami at Oxford; October 6—Whittemburg at Springfield, Ohio; October 13—University of Tennessee at Knoxville; October 20—Kentucky Wesleyan College at Georgetown; October 27—University of Kentucky at Lexington; November 3—Maryville College at Georgetown; November 10—Franklin College at Franklin, Indiana; November 17—University of Louisville at Georgetown; November 24—Hanover College at Hanover, Indiana; and November 29—Transylvania College at Georgetown.

HARDING'S BODY
REACHES MARION
AT NOON TODAY

Body to Lie in Father's Home Until 2 O'clock Tomorrow When It Will Be Taken to Cemetery—Burial At 3

STATE TROOPS GUARD CITY FROM SOUVENIR HUNTERS

By Associated Press.

MARION, O., Aug. 9.—Traveling slowly through long lines of home folks the funeral train carrying President Harding's body arrived at 12:38 today, two hours and thirty-eight minutes late.

By Associated Press.

MARION, Aug. 9.—The funeral train bearing home the body of the late President Harding crossed the Marion County line at 12:13 this afternoon. This was two miles from Blooming Grove, the village where he was born. As the train reached Marion County the courthouse bell began tolling. The progress of the train through Marion county was slow due to large crowds which lined the railroad. Many of them were boyhood neighbors of the late President.

Meanwhile, a hearse, not a military caisson, was waiting at the depot to take the coffin directly to the home of the late President's father, Dr. George Harding. After lying a brief time in private, the public will be admitted until ten tonight and again tomorrow from nine until one. An hour later the funeral procession will start for the cemetery and at three the body will be laid to rest in the receiving vault.

All points of interest in connection with the life here of Mr. Harding are heavily guarded by Ohio state troops to safeguard them from the ravages of souvenir hunters. Three thousand guardsmen are here. An especially heavy guard was placed around the old Harding house where Mr. Harding conducted his famous front porch campaign for the presidency.

Everywhere throughout the city flags are flying half mast and everywhere is seen black and white bunting of mourning. Almost every home has in the front window a large picture of the late President.

By Associated Press.

MARION, Aug. 9.—Since daylight roads leading into Marion have been pouring people into the city. Long before daylight people began to assemble at the depot for the arrival of the body of the late president. No one was permitted outside the sidewalk curb by troops which constantly patrol the streets.

POST OFFICE TO BE CLOSED
FROM 3 TO 4 P. M. TOMORROW

The local post office will be closed from 3 to 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in conformity with the following notice received from Harry S. New, postmaster general:

"As a further mark of respect to the memory of the late President of the United States post offices will be closed one hour, 3 to 4 o'clock, during exercises attending the burial of the late President at Marion, O., on Friday, August 10. Adapt your hour to Marion time, central standard, so that all will be concurrent."

TWO GIVEN PENITENTIARY
TERMS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Simon Messer, tried on charge of grand larceny and petit larceny in the Pineville circuit court yesterday, was convicted and sentenced to one year in the state reformatory for the more serious offense and received a jail sentence for the other.

Willie Hendrickson, charged with interfering with an officer, was convicted and given a three years sentence. Work of the court has not progressed as rapidly as was expected, much of the time being devoted to selection of juries.

Judge Sam Hurst is presiding this week. Local police officers and other persons from Middlesboro have been there as witnesses this week.

MORE INFORMATION ON WEST END INJUNCTION

In the Open Forum column today we are carrying a letter from a prominent West End owner who is the primary instigator of the injunction suit. The Daily News has not, and never will, intentionally make a charge which is based on a falsity, and in our expression of regret the other day that there had been caused a serious delay in the construction of the streets of the city, we had in mind only the bringing to light the facts in the case. The vigorous explanation of the attitude of the plaintiffs in the injunction suit, and their reasons for filing the injunction is bridging out information from all sides, and can only result in better streets for Middlesboro, which everyone recognizes as our one and only aim.

The West End owners filing the injunction claim that they had previously to the letting of the contract taken the matter up with the city and had pledged themselves as willing to pay for a street based upon different specifications and in accordance with what they wanted. This they claim, was flatly turned down by the city.

Since the property owners are paying for the streets it is certainly right and proper that they should be given the kind of street they are willing to pay for, when the questions at issue effect only the permanence and desirability of the streets. In regard to the water main, anyone can see that a two inch water main can only be regarded as temporary, and should by all means be made permanent before the street is put down. It is claimed in this connection that the property owners took the matter up with the Kentucky Utilities but were refused a larger line.
Surely the city should now demand that the proper line be installed by this public utilities corporation.

These contentions are well taken, and it is well for the public to understand every angle in the controversy.
We are giving full space to those who wish to explain their acts and set forth their opinions. A free discussion of our civic problems always ends in improvement and advancement. In this case, we doubt not that as a result of this airing of the street building situation, Middlesboro will get better streets.

A lot of votes went to Kash in the recent state primary. A lot of votes usually go for cash.

We wonder if some property owners will be satisfied with the paving when they reach the city where the streets are paved with gold.

Though billboards are considered unsightly in some towns those now being erected in Middlesboro will perform a very useful service in concealing overgrown weeds or rubbish from the public view. Another thing in favor of the new billboards is that the weeds in front are being cut so that the posters may be seen.

THE OPEN FORUM

No Local Money In Construction Editor Daily News: In a statement published in the Middlesboro News August 8 under the name of John Howard, insinuations were made that certain institutions in Middlesboro and certain parties in the West End were advancing large sums of money to finance the present construction work now going on in Middlesboro.

We wish to make emphatic denial of the statement in its entirety. No individual or bank in this town has advanced this company one dollar. owing to the fact that there has been decided opposition to the construction of certain streets, no local institution could afford to advance money on the construction.

This company has ample funds to finance its own work and this we are doing in various places in Tennessee and in Middlesboro. We contemplated arranging banking relations so that we could give the property holders at least three years to pay for the construction.
The actions of a few people have made this impossible to a majority of property holders who we feel should have their streets paved.

This statement is not made to enter into a controversy with any one, but relations in Middlesboro have been extremely pleasant and this is merely a denial that the banks or individuals are furnishing money to this company, or have any connection with the company in any way whatsoever.

John L. Hubbard Construction Co.
By John L. Hubbard, President.

More On The Injunction

Editor Daily News: In commenting on your article on the West end street injunction in your paper of August 7th, 1923, I wish to say that the property owners in that neighborhood permitted the Mayor and City Council to give them a street composed of lime stone and rock asphalt before this work was let. The reasons for asking for this kind of a street was that we thought it was superior to one with a concrete base, composed of one reg-ment, three of sand and six of slag.

At the time the petition was presented it was our understanding that we would get this kind of street; another reason for wanting this kind of construction was that the street was to be laid over a temporary pipe line and that a permanent pipe line could be laid in the future without destroying the street. We took the question of a larger pipe line with the water company and they stated that they would not consider the laying of a permanent or cast iron pipe line along the street to be paved.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want you to put yourself in the attitude of a property owner of this city for the purpose of asking you a few questions—

1. Would you be willing to pay for a street that did not come up to the specifications?
2. Would you be willing to pay for doing in various places in Tennessee
and in Middlesboro. We contemplated arranging banking relations so that we could give the property holders at least three years to pay for the construction.
The actions of a few people have
made this impossible to a majority of property holders who we feel should have their streets paved.

3. Would you be willing to pay for a 6 inch concrete street that was not six inches thick?
4. Would you be satisfied to pay for property holders who we feel should work that had no inspection given it, except that which was given by the contractor?

5. Would you be willing to have the waste street material moved from the low places in the streets and placed for the purpose of filling private ground?
6. Would it not be better for the city and the community at large for this waste material to be used on the low places in the streets and placed in the immediate neighborhood in which the work is being done?

7. In your opinion which would be the better plan and how has this been done heretofore?
8. If you were paying for a concrete street, would you want the subgrade under the concrete rolled down and made firm for a base for your concrete?
9. If you were paying for a street that is intended to stand heavy service on which a part of it is composed of concrete and the balance of asphalt with a limestone base, would you want the concrete portion of the street made with gravel and small sand stone boulders instead of limestone?

10. Would you want the concrete portion of the street covered with dirt and cured for a reasonable length of time or would you prefer to have it left uncovered and cured by the rays of the sun?

11. Would you consent to the construction of a street with concrete base over four inch main to five hydrants when insurance requirements demand six-inch main?

Myself as well as the other property owners in the neighborhood would be glad if you would answer the above questions.

In the beginning of our article you say that a property owner in that section told you that he considered that the work was being purposely delayed and he said further that the injunction had been instigated by two or three men who had always opposed civic improvement and had been signed by several others who did not realize what they were signing. You say that this is a serious charge but a conversation with other property owners in that section makes you feel that this is true.

I want you to give the name of the parties with whom you had this conversation, as well as the names of the parties who signed the petition that did not realize what they were signing.
Your failure to do this I think will put you rather in the attitude of a man who writes an anonymous letter. I have discussed this question with the major portion of the signers of the petition and they as well as myself insist that we shall have this information.

Now with reference to opposing civic improvement, I do not believe that there is a man in the community that opposes civic improvement where you get 100 cents for each $1 expended. Do you draw any distinction between civic improvement and civic waste?

I wish to state further in connection with this matter that I asked the City Engineer to use limestone on the street referred to instead of slag and explained to him that the slag delivered on the ground did not come up to the specifications. He said that he would give us limestone instead and lead me to believe that he agreed with me in reference to the slag. I asked a representative of the contractor on what portion of the street they expected to use the stone. He indicated that it would be used on block in front of my house. I stated to him that if my neighbors had to take and pay for the slag that I would do likewise.

I wish to say further that the neighborhood in which I live is composed of a citizenship that does not have to ask anybody whether they shall sign a petition or not. By the time that this letter is printed the Court will have decided as to who is right in this matter and we are willing to abide by his decision.

I have not headed this article with anything from Chalmers or any other Arthur but I am signing the same.

THE DUFFS

"Where are the Duffs?"
"Are you Mr. Duff or the baby?"
"Do let us know where the Duffs have gone?"

Queries and requests like these have been pouring in on the Service Desk, through New client papers, from devices of the Service comes throughout the whole country.

Readers have missed the daily picture of the Duff family life very quickly. To them it's been as if certain beloved neighbors on the same street had vanished suddenly and mysteriously. They want to know where and why and how.

The fact is that Waffle Allman, the genial cartoonist and creator of the Duffs, is ill. So, of course, the Duffs are all at his bedside, doing a neigh-borly job of nursing. Thus assured that the lively little family hasn't moved out of the comic page for good, their friends can wait hopefully for the temporarily missing ones to reappear.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton
NO. 7—TINY MITE RESCUED

"So this is where you are!" cried Nancy.

When Tiny Mite, the Pee Wee, asked the lightning bug to take him to the moon, the lightning bug took him to a moonvane instead and left him on one of the big round white flowers.

"Oh, thank you, Mister Bug!" yawned Tiny Mite. "I never knew the moon was so lovely. And doesn't it smell good! But I'm so sleepy-eyed. I'll have to have forty winks at once. I'll crawl into this hole, which must be one of the valleys I have heard of, and have a nap. Then you can take me home."

Soon he was snoring like a buzzsaw.
But the lightning bug was worried.
He'd wasted so much electricity on his way from Pee Wee Land that he hadn't a speck left and his light had come out. And how on earth was he ever going to get Tiny Mite back to Pee Wee Land when his nap was over. Besides, the real moon had come from behind the cloud and Tiny Mite would know he had been fooled.

"Oh, oh! what'll I do?" said the lightning bug. Then all at once he noticed something. It was getting near daylight when moon flowers shut themselves up tight. And Tiny Mite's particular flower had started to turn itself slowly round and round, all the time getting bigger and bigger like a screw.

"Oh!" said the bug. "I'll let him stay there and he can't get out till tomorrow night. I'll have time to go home for more electricity."

When Tiny Mite woke up, there he was! Tighter 'n' a wad of cotton in a gun.

"Let me out! Let me out!" he yelled, pounding and pounding. "The moon's closed up on me and I'm hungry and want to go home."

Who should come along just then but Nancy and Nick.

And they heard him. They'd been hunting for ever so long. For Tiny Mite's bed hadn't been slept in and his mother was worried sick.

"So this is where you are?" cried Nancy, pulling open the moon-flower and letting Tiny Mite out.

"You'd better stay in Pee Wee Land, where you belong," said Nick.

BUSY
* By Berton Braley *

Go away, Cynic: no doubt you are clever, Wise, in your cynical way.
Nevertheless it is best that we seven I'm very busy today.
Busy pursuing a roseate vision, I cannot bother with you.
What do I care for your smile or derision?
I've got some dreaming to do.

Beat it away from here, Mocker and Skeptic.
I haven't time for you now;
You think you're wise, but I think you're dyspeptic.
I'm off of you, anyhow!
All your philosophic wily and vain ho,
Even admitting it's true That seeking gold at the foot of a rainbow,
I've got some dreaming to do.

Refrain, leave me. Your talk is nightmarish.
Get the air! Leave me alone!
I've got some precious illusions to cherish.
Such as you never have known.
Somehow your cold-blooded speeches sound hollow.
Ah, you're blocking my view, I've got a will-o-the-whisp I must follow,
I've got some dreaming to do.

The Scholar

My days among the dead are past;

Around me I behold.

Where'er these casual eyes are cast,

The mighty minds of old;

My never-fading friends are they.

With whom I converse day by day.

With them I take delight in weal

And seek relief in woe;

And while I understand and feel

How much to them I owe.

My cheeks have often been bedew'd

With tears of thoughtful gratitude.

My thoughts are with the dead; with them

I live in long past years.

Their virtues love, their faults condemn.

Partake their hopes and fears.

And from their lessons seek and find

Instruction with a humble mind.

My hopes are with the dead; anon

My place with them will be.

And I with them shall travel on Through all futurity;

Yet leaving here a name, I trust,

That will not perish in the dust.

—Robert Southey.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Vegetable Marmalades

There are a few vegetables that make delicious and unusual sweets. Carrots are especially good. The vegetable marmalade can be used. Beets are attractive and combine well with fruits and tomatoes alone or in combination make preserves that are heartily appreciated during winter.

There is a distinct saving in the use of vegetables. They are cheaper than fruit in the first place and make it possible to decrease the amount of sugar in the second. The vegetable acts as a sort of filler or foundation while the fruit simply adds flavor.

Of course a vegetable marmalade is not as rich as an entire fruit sweet, but for everyday use in a family with children the "imitation" marmalade is desirable.

Imitation Orange Marmalade

One pound carrots, 2 oranges, 1 lemon, 3 cups sugar.

Scrape carrots and put through food chopper. Cook in boiling water to cover for fifteen minutes. Wash oranges and lemon and squeeze out juice. Cook ends in water to cover till tender.

Shred rinds or put through food chopper. Add juice, rinds, sugar to carrots and simmer till thick and jelly like.

Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cool. It will not take long cooking to make the marmalade, as there is much pectin in lemon rind.

Imitation Apricot Marmalade

One pound carrots, 3 lemons, 1 cup sugar, 50 blanched almonds, 1-4 teaspoon pistachio flavoring.

Wash and scrape carrots. Put thru food chopper and cook in boiling water to cover till tender. Grate the yellow rind from the lemons and squeeze out the juice. Add juice and grated rind to carrots. Shred almonds and add.

Add more water if necessary to prevent burning. Cook slowly till thick.

Add pistachio when removing from the fire. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal at once.

Green Tomato Marmalade

Five pounds green tomatoes, 5 lemons, 5 tablespoons minced ginger, 8 cups sugar.

Wash tomatoes and cut in slices.

They should be very green without a trace of red. Put in a large crock cover with cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning drain well and chop. Wash lemons and grate rind. Squeeze out juice. Add lemon juice, grated rind and minced ginger to tomato with just enough water to prevent burning. Simmer, stirring occasionaly, for an hour. Add sugar and cook till thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Hint the bright things. With so many worms in peaches there may be none left for cherries.

Postman may wear shirts instead of blouses, but may bring letters instead of bills.

PURPOSE

The Middlesboro Retail Merchants Association was organized in the early fall of last year with a three-fold purpose:

1. To promote a friendly trade relation between merchants of Middlesboro as a whole and the people of Middlesboro and the adjoining districts in Bell, Lee, and Claiborne counties.
2. To bring the merchants of the city together as making Middlesboro an excellent market place for the people of the farmers in Virginia and Tennessee, and as a place where buying power of a dollar is just as great as in the larger cities.
3. To advertise the possibilities of Middlesboro as trade center for this section and to advance its growth in the possible way.

Much has been done in bringing about a friendly cooperation between the merchants of the town, and the result is fairly in its advantages to the people who come into the city.
People are beginning to realize that Middlesboro merchants offering every possible advantage for the out-of-town business.

Retail Merchants Association

ACTIVITIES

The first achievement of the Association was the successful bringing together of the merchants into one cooperative movement. Credit relations with individual shoppers have been established, interest in the problems of the out-of-town people has been developed, and the advantages of Middlesboro as a trading center have been advertised.

The biggest single achievement of the Association was the holding of a Fall Festival last year that brought into the city thousands of people. Every person who attended the Festival was so highly enthusiastic about the results that another Festival for this year was decided upon.

A large list of prizes has been worked out, which is published in another section of this issue of the Daily News. The members of the Association contributing prizes are shown on this page, and we are anxious for every reader to note the money which is being offered in cash prizes. The first, second and third prizes are not shown in these ads, only the full amount of cash offered for each display.

We hope that every citizen of Bell, Lee and Claiborne counties will as far as possible have an exhibit.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions of respect on the death of William G. Harding.

Whereas the nation has been shaken by the sudden loss of its leader and bowed by the sorrow that is mine to the heart of all Americans; and Whereas humanity has been deprived of a sympathetic counselor and one whose heart beat in tune with the great cause that he represents; and

Whereas Kiwanis International has witnessed the going of a loved member and one who gave of his already overtaxed time to the establishment of its principles and to the success of the movement's it fostered; therefore Be it resolved That we join with the nation in the expression of honor that it is owing to the memory of our deceased President; and

Be it further resolved That we subscribe to the principles that our departed leader gave his life to uphold and pledge ourselves to the vigorous prosecution of the Americanism that he exemplified; and

Be it further resolved That we express to his broken wife and kinship our deepest sympathy in this hour of awful suffering and grief; and

Be it further resolved That we recognize the majesty of the Almighty and that we commend Him to the sorrowing loved ones, friends and nation and

Be it further resolved That full publicity be given these resolutions and that a copy be sent to the President of the United States and a copy to Mrs.
Harding.
